Veterans Health Identification Card

The new Veteran Health Identification Card (DHIC) provides:

- Increased security for your personal information - no personally identifiable information is contained on the magnetic stripe or barcode.
- A salute to your military service - The emblem of your latest branch of service is displayed on your card. Several special awards will also be listed.

The DHIC replaces the Veteran Identification Card (VIC) and will be issued only to Veterans who are enrolled in the VA health care system.

Purpose of the DHIC

The DHIC is for identification and check-in at VA appointments. It cannot be used as a credit card or an insurance card, and it does not authorize or pay for care at non-VA facilities.

Getting the New Card is Easy!

In February 2014, VA began issuing the DHIC to newly enrolled Veterans and enrolled Veterans who were not previously issued the old VIC but requested an identification card.

Beginning in May 2014, VA will automatically mail a DHIC to enrolled Veterans who were issued the VIC. Because we will be reissuing more than 6 million cards, we ask for your patience during this time. Veterans who were issued a VIC do not need to return to their VA medical center to have a photo taken for the DHIC.

Enrolled Veterans who do not have the VIC can contact their local VA medical center Enrollment Coordinator to arrange to have their picture taken for the new DHIC, or they may request a new DHIC at their next VA health care appointment. To ensure their identity, Veterans must provide either one form of primary identification or two forms of secondary identification. Please see the Acceptable Documents for Identity Proofing table below.
The VHIC will be mailed to all valid mailing addresses, including P.O. boxes.

Important: Veterans who are already enrolled should ensure the address we have on file is correct so you can receive your VHIC in a timely manner. To update or to confirm your address with us, please call 1-877-222-VETS (8387). If the post office cannot deliver your VHIC, the card will be returned to the VA.

What to do if you are NOT enrolled

If you are not currently enrolled with the VA for your health care, we encourage you to apply for enrollment online at www.va.gov/healthbenefits/enroll or by calling 1-877-222-VETS (8387). You may also apply for enrollment in person at your local VA medical facility. Once your enrollment is verified, your picture will be taken at your local VA medical center so that, once production begins, a VHIC will be mailed to you. To ensure your identity, you must provide either one primary or two secondary documents. See the Acceptable Documents for Identity Proofing table below.

What to do if you do not receive your new VHIC

You should receive your VHIC within 7 to 10 days after you request a VHIC card. Although we strive to do all we can to ensure we enroll Veterans in a timely manner, sometimes we are unable to either verify your military service or we need additional information from you. If so, we will try to contact you to get the information we need to complete your enrollment application. If we are unable to reach you, we encourage you to contact the local VA facility where the card was requested or contact us at 1-877-222-VETS (8387) to complete your application and find out the status of your card.

What to do with your old VIC

VA wants all enrolled Veterans to have a Veteran Health Identification Card that protects their personal information. Until Veterans receive the new, more secure VHIC, Veterans are encouraged to safeguard their old VIC, just like they would a credit card, to prevent unauthorized access to their identity information. Once the new VHIC is received, Veterans should destroy their old VIC by cutting it up or shredding it.

What to do if you’re VHIC is lost or stolen

If your VHIC is lost or stolen, you should contact the VA Medical Facility where your picture was taken to request a new card be re-issued, or call us at 1-877-222-VETS (8387). Identifying information will be asked to ensure proper identification of the caller.

Acceptable Documents for Identity Proofing

Election Identification Certificate (EIC)

Espanol

Texas voters must show a photo ID to vote in elections in Texas, unless you are exempt (see "Exemptions" below).

If you do not have any of the following acceptable forms of ID, beginning June 26, 2013, you may apply for an Election Identification Certificate (EIC) at no charge. However, if you already have any of the following forms of ID, you are not eligible for an EIC:

- Texas driver license—unexpired or expired no longer than 60 days at the time of voting
- Texas personal identification card—unexpired or expired no longer than 60 days at the time of voting
- Texas concealed handgun license—unexpired or expired no longer than 60 days at the time of voting
- U.S. passport book or card—unexpired or expired no longer than 60 days at the time of voting
- U.S. Military identification with photo—unexpired or expired no longer than 60 days at the time of voting
- U.S. Citizenship Certificate or Certificate of Naturalization with photo

Texans may also obtain an EIC at certain locations in select counties throughout the state.

Exemptions

If you are voting by mail, you do not have to submit a photo ID.

If you have a documented disability, you may apply at your county voter registrar for a permanent exemption from the photo ID requirement. If approved, you will not need a photo ID to vote.

For more information on the types of exemptions available, please visit your county voter registrar or the Texas Secretary of State.

How to Apply

http://www.txdps.state.tx.us/driverlicense/electionid.htm
To apply for an EIC, visit a driver license office and complete an Application for Texas Election Certificate (DL-14C) (PDF).

To qualify for an EIC, you must:

- Bring documentation to the office to verify your U.S. Citizenship
- Bring documentation to the office to verify your Identity
- Be eligible to vote in Texas (Bring your valid voter registration card to the office, or submit a voter registration application through the Texas Department of Public Safety at the office)
- Be a Texas resident
- Be 17 years and 10 months or older

The information on the documents, such as name and date of birth, must all match. If the name is different on each document, then the individual must provide documents that verify a legal name change. If other information on the document is different, speak with a Customer Service Representative for assistance.

If you are using a name other than what is on your birth certificate, (example: married name), you will be required to show legal documentation of name change. Documents must be original or certified copy. No photocopies can be accepted.

Acceptable documents:

1. Marriage license
2. Divorce decree
3. Court ordered name change

Expiration and Use

An EIC is valid for six years. There is no expiration date for certificates issued to citizens 70 years of age or older.

Election Identification Certificates may only be used to vote and do not replace a Texas driver license or ID card. In addition, an EIC will not be accepted to verify identity when applying for a Texas driver license or ID card.

Statutory Authority

The Texas Election Code 63.001(b) requires a photo ID in order to vote in Texas. The Texas Transportation Code, Chapter 521A and 37 Texas Administration Code, Sections 15.181-185, authorizes DPS to issue Election Identification Certificates.

County Locations Issuing Election Identification Certificates

The following county locations will be issuing Election Identification Certificates (EICs) to Texans who do not already have an acceptable form of photo identification necessary to vote.

Technical Guidance: Understanding the Chronic Homeless Definition

This technical guide is intended for non-profit local housing and service providers as well as local government agencies that are under contract with the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) to provide housing and related support services to the target population of chronically homeless persons. It is intended to answer frequently asked questions pertaining to the federal definition of chronic homelessness and the standards for qualifying persons for housing under this definition. It also provides suggested templates for forms and letters that may assist providers, government agencies, and their local partners in devising internal mechanisms to certify homeless persons for a program for chronically homeless persons.

Since 2003, HUD and other federal agencies joined together to fund four initiatives targeting chronically homeless persons. The first, known as the Collaborative Initiative to Help End Chronic Homelessness, was a $35 million program for housing and support services that combined HUD's resources with funds from the federal Departments of Health and Human Services and Veterans Affairs. HUD went on from this initiative to award $6.5 million in HOME funds to 13 communities for the purpose of creating permanent rental housing for chronically homeless persons.

A third initiative was a partnership, established between HUD and the Department of Labor, which selected five communities to receive funds to simultaneously address the employment issues and housing needs of chronically homeless persons. This program was followed by a fourth initiative known as Housing for People Who Are Homeless and Addicted to Alcohol. For this program, HUD committed $10 million to a dozen pilot programs in 11 cities around the country to support projects designed for chronically homeless persons struggling with chronic alcoholism. In addition to these targeted initiatives, HUD also now actively encourages Continuum of Care communities to develop local strategies to end chronic homelessness. As a result, many new and existing McKinney-Vento permanent housing programs now target chronically homeless persons.

This guide is intended to be of use to HUD McKinney-Vento grantees and sponsors, targeting chronically homeless persons, who are implementing housing and services for this population. Such grantees may also find it useful to share this guide with local homeless service providers who are asked to supply documentation verifying the eligibility of homeless persons. The templates included in this guide may also be useful to both grantees and their partners in the emergency shelter community. These templates may be adopted in the form presented here or modified to suit individual program needs. Note that these are not official HUD forms but, rather, suggestions for what information may be useful to collect and for how the information may be organized to assist grantees in accurately assessing clients and reporting program results.

Understanding the Chronic Homeless Definition

1. What is the Federal government's definition of a chronically homeless person?

HUD adopted the Federal definition which defines a chronically homeless person as "either (1) an unaccompanied homeless individual with a disabling condition who has been continuously homeless for a year or more, OR (2) an unaccompanied individual with a disabling condition who has had at least four episodes of homelessness in the past three years." This definition is adopted by HUD from a federal standard that was arrived upon through collective decision making by a team of federal agencies including HUD, the U.S. Department of Labor, the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs, and the U.S. Interagency Council on Homelessness.

2. What is meant by "homeless" in the definition of chronically homeless?

In its definition of a chronically homeless person, HUD defines the term "homeless" as "a person sleeping in a place not meant for human habitation (e.g. living on the streets, for example) OR living in a homeless emergency shelter."

3. Does a homeless person who is applying to our program need to satisfy both of the time framed criteria, described above in question #1, that define an individual as chronically homeless?

No. The homeless person must meet only one or the other of the two time framed criteria that make up the definition.

4. If a homeless person applying for assistance was housed in various settings between episodes of homelessness, could they qualify for assistance?

Yes. An individual qualifying under the second criteria of the definition need not have moved between conventional housing and homelessness. Applicants may have spent time anywhere in between episodes of homelessness that could include medical settings, residential treatment programs, other kinds of institutions, transitional housing, supportive housing, and/or correctional institutions.

5. If a homeless person who is applying to our program has had four episodes of homelessness, does it matter where they are when they seek our housing?

Yes. As stated in question #2, the homeless person must be sleeping in a place not meant for human habitation (such as living on the street) or living in a homeless emergency shelter at the time of entry into the HUD housing for chronically homeless persons. For example, a qualified homeless person might have the following type of history in the last three years: (1) leaves housing for a homeless shelter, (2) moves in with a friend or family member and leaves again for a homeless emergency shelter, (3) goes to jail and is released to living on the street, (4) goes back to the friend or family member's house and leaves to move into a homeless emergency shelter. Importantly, this homeless person will enter the HUD housing program for chronically homeless persons from a state of homelessness (i.e. in a homeless emergency shelter) as is required.

6. What is meant by an “episode” of homelessness?

   An episode of homelessness is “a separate, distinct, and sustained stay on the streets and/or in a homeless emergency shelter.” HUD requires that “a chronically homeless person must be unaccompanied and disabled during each episode.”

7. What is meant by an emergency shelter?

   An emergency shelter is “any facility the primary purpose of which is to provide temporary or transitional shelter for the homeless in general or for specific populations of the homeless” (24 CFR Ch.V (4-1-05) 576.3). Although this definition includes the term transitional shelter, persons coming from transitional housing are not considered chronically homeless.

8. What is meant by “disabling condition” in the chronically homeless definition?

   A disabling condition is defined as “a diagnosable substance abuse disorder, a serious mental illness, developmental disability, or chronic physical illness or disability, including the co-occurrence of two or more of these conditions.” In addition, “a disabling condition limits an individual’s ability to work or perform one or more activities of daily living.” (Questions and Answers: A Supplement to the 2006 Continuum of Care Homeless Assistance NOFA and Application: p.7).

9. Can homeless people who are applying to our program be accompanied by children and can couples qualify as chronically homeless?

   No. The homeless person must be an “unaccompanied homeless person” which means an individual such as “a single homeless person who is alone and is not part of a homeless family and not accompanied by children.”
Qualifying Persons with Fluctuating Status

1. Is it possible to direct certain homeless people, who have been qualified as chronically homeless, towards a short term stay in a facility providing substance abuse and/or psychiatric or medical treatment with the objective of stabilizing them and increasing the likelihood of their success in permanent housing?

Yes. Under these or other similar circumstances, it is possible to direct qualified participants to short term treatment to precede housing placement. In general, HUD's chronically homeless initiatives and programs may not require that all clients participate in such interim treatment. However, on a case by case basis, if persons are identified who would benefit from this service, it may be recommended to them as a first step. Participants who decline such interim placement would still proceed directly towards identifying permanent housing. Participants who comply with the recommendation are considered enrolled in the program while in treatment which may not exceed 90 days. Upon completion of treatment, the participant should move directly into a permanent housing unit.

2. If a qualified chronically homeless person is referred to short term treatment, how do we reconcile HUD's requirement that new clients enter our program from a state of homelessness?

A chronically homeless person, who chooses to start off participation in your program with a preliminary stay in short term treatment, would first be formally “entered” into the chronically homeless program prior to this placement. This participant would retain the status of having “entered” into the program while in interim treatment.

3. If a qualified chronically homeless person applying to our program enters short term treatment, to what extent should we engage in the housing search and placement process for such an individual?

A participant who has been entered into your program and is temporarily in short term treatment should exit such a program directly into an identified housing unit to avoid the consequences of yet another episode of homelessness. Given this imperative, it may be necessary, in some cases, to hold a unit for a short period of time, not to exceed 90 days, to assure the participant’s seamless transition from treatment to housing.

4. What if a homeless person who was chronically homeless for one full year and has the documentation to substantiate it, moved into a transitional housing program? Now that same person is applying for our program of permanent housing targeted to the chronically homeless. Does this person qualify?
No. To be defined as chronically homeless, a person must be living on the street or in a homeless emergency shelter at the time of eligibility determination. The definition does not include those currently in transitional housing. Persons coming from transitional housing are not considered chronically homeless.

5. What if an individual was qualified as chronically homeless and entered a different HUD-funded permanent housing program? Can that person hold onto that chronically homeless status and apply to our program?

No. An individual who enters other HUD funded permanent housing, as with transitional housing, is no longer considered chronically homeless.
Understanding Special Circumstances

1. Is it acceptable for a homeless person applying to our program to have been incarcerated in between episodes of homelessness?

Yes. A homeless person who experienced incarceration or repeated incarcerations in between four episodes of homelessness over three years could be eligible provided that the person was living on the street or in a homeless emergency shelter at the time he/she is being evaluated for intake.

2. Can we accept someone who is applying to enter our program directly from a correctional institution?

No. Clients must be homeless, as per HUD’s definition, at the time they enter the program.

3. Can we accept someone who is applying to enter our program directly from a medical institution?

No. Clients cannot be in any kind of institution including medical facilities nor can they be in housing at the time they enter the program.

4. What if a chronically homeless person was hospitalized and then released to a temporary placement in a motel for medical reasons which made placement in conventional shelter unsafe for the person? Could the stay in the motel constitute an episode of homelessness?

If the medical institution could provide documentation that the motel was being used as a homeless emergency shelter for this person, this homeless person could be considered eligible if the other aspects of the homeless history were also documented.

5. What if a homeless person applying for assistance is very nearly qualified but does not fit all aspects of the chronic homeless definition precisely such as someone who was on the streets for the last 11 months and was also homeless on and off for the last several years but not quite fitting either pattern in the definition of chronically homeless persons?

Qualified homeless persons must meet HUD’s definition of chronically homeless. However, persons who do not quite qualify at the outset of engagement with your program for reasons of time may, in fact, be determined eligible once the application process, which may take a period of weeks or more, is complete and the necessary time has elapsed. The documentation of eligibility must be completed before the homeless person enters the program.
Collecting Necessary Documentation

1. What is required in the way of documentation of chronic homelessness?

For each person applying to the program, written documentation must be provided by an appropriate Third Party that verifies the person’s status as chronically homeless. This documentation must be kept in each participant’s case record file. A recommended template for a Checklist for gathering and analyzing all necessary documentation associated with chronic homelessness is provided in this guide.

2. What constitutes an appropriate Third Party for evidencing the chronic homeless status of persons applying to our program?

Letters may be written and signed by either homeless shelter providers, homeless outreach workers, or other homeless service providers such as Health Care for the Homeless. Alternatively, a local Homeless Management Information System (HMIS) can be called upon to supply a printout of an individual’s history in a local homeless service continuum. This printout may be substituted for a letter from a homeless provider.

3. Would a letter from another kind of community-based human service agency suffice as evidence of chronic homelessness?

In the absence of a homeless service provider who can account for an individual’s history, letters may be supplied by other human service entities such as food pantries, social workers, outreach workers, health workers, law enforcement, hospitals, medical clinics, and churches.

4. What must letters from appropriate Third Parties contain?

Such Third Party letters and HMIS printouts must be on letterhead stationery and contain the full name of the client. Letters must include dates verifying the timeframe of homelessness including both a start date and completion date. Letters should also be signed by a staff member whose title appears on the letter. It is also helpful to request that such letters include information pertaining to the whereabouts of the person prior to engaging with this provider and, if applicable, after having left. When available, this additional information can be helpful in completing the record of the person’s homelessness. A recommended template for the contents of a Third Party letter is provided in this guide.

5. What if there is a gap in the Third Party documentation for which only the homeless person applying to our program can attest?

In the absence of complete documentation from an appropriate Third Party and or an HMIS printout, the homeless person may sign a Self-Statement, also known as a personal affidavit, attesting to his/her own whereabouts, history, and chronic homelessness status. Such a statement must have the same contents as Third Party letters including dates, locations, a signature, and the full name of the homeless person. Those who cannot write or compose their own letters may dictate them and provide their own mark or signature. These Self-Statements should also be signed by a staff member who witnessed the person create the document. A recommended template for the contents of a Self-Statement is provided in this guide.

6. Is a Self-Statement in and of itself ever sufficient documentation?

Generally, Self-Statements are to be used to fill in the gaps in the record of homelessness when certain periods of time cannot be accounted for and documented by a Third Party. If all other efforts to obtain Third Party documentation have been exhausted and unsuccessful for a particular person, a Self-Statement may be used in the absence of any other documentation. However, this should be a relatively rare exception to the composition of most homelessness records for your program participants.

7. What is the best strategy for obtaining documentation from a Third Party?

Many homeless service providers are familiar with requests for letters documenting homelessness and may have their own internal form letter for such inquiries. However, homeless providers are relatively unfamiliar with the need to capture specific dates and the time frame of repeat visits to their program. Therefore, it is recommended that these parties be supplied a template letter to ensure the documentation is sufficient and consistent. Conducting outreach and training within a local homeless service network about chronic homeless documentation may also improve upon the readiness of providers to evidence the chronically homeless status.

8. Can staff members of the organization that sponsors the housing for chronically homeless persons qualify persons themselves based on internal knowledge and information gathering?

No. The supporting documentation must be provided by an appropriate Third Party. However, if a chronically homeless organization is also the provider of a homeless service, such as emergency shelter or street outreach, then an authorized staff person from the emergency component of the same organization can, in fact, be considered a Third Party and may provide and sign the letter.

9. Is it acceptable to combine multiple letters and Self-Statements to complete documentation of chronic homelessness for one person?

Yes. Expect that a record of chronic homelessness will be pieced together from several sources including Third Party Letters, HMIS printouts, and Self-Statements. Records with multiple sources are most likely to be needed when evidencing four episodes of homelessness in three years.
10. What if the shelter or homeless provider organization submits letters outlining the person’s history that conflict with one another?

A homeless person’s file should contain an accurate account of the person’s history of homelessness. If Third Party Letters conflict with one another, one or more of these documents may need clarification. In such cases, a series of communications may be required with the parties who are providing the supporting documentation to clarify the history. Expectations of staff time needed to complete applications and eligibility assessments should reflect this common need for multiple phone calls, other communications, and corrections to documents.

11. What if a homeless person applying to our program has an accounting of their episodes of homelessness but cannot supply certain pieces of information on where they resided intermittently between the four episodes?

A homeless person who cannot provide complete information about their specific whereabouts, such as an address or the name of a homeless shelter, during certain parts of their homeless history can explain the lack of information in a Self-Statement. The Statement should present the reason for the lack of information, such as an illness, that impedes a homeless person’s ability to remember the missing information.

12. What if a homeless person does not recollect the specific dates of episodes of homelessness in their history?

Homeless persons with conditions and diagnoses that impede their ability to recall certain dates related to their history can be assisted in reviewing the chronology of their experiences with homelessness and making best guesses at approximate time frames and specifics of locations that are their best recollection. The Self-Statements in their record should contain these specific dates and locations together with an explanation of the reason for the need to approximate this information.

13. What specific documentation is required to substantiate a homeless person’s disability?

Written documentation to substantiate that a homeless person’s disability meets the program definition must come from a qualified source such as a credentialed psychiatrist or other professional certified to make such a determination.
