On August 7, 2007, the morning of the election, the TSX machine was not working. Dr. Jenkins allowed everyone to vote an emergency ballot. Once the machine became available, she informed everyone present that the machine is now working, and we must let you use the voting machine.

*Mrs. Christine Butler said to Dr. Jenkins, "Velma, is she going to be able to help me?" Velma replied, "Yes Mam, nothing has changed, you will get the help you need."

Dr. Jenkins said to one of the federal observer, "You can not stand where you can see who they are voting." She told him this because he did not ask any voter for permission to observe while they received help. At the end of the day, Dr. Jenkins informed all present, "We will only entertain challenges that are listed on page 24 of the MS Poll Manager Guide." She read them, and she gave the federal observer a copy for his records.
