OSU law students can be found living in all quadrants of the city, from German Village to the suburb of Dublin and from northeast Columbus to on-campus housing. However, there are a number of areas in which a majority of law students reside because of the variety of convenient and affordable housing options. These are listed below for your consideration.*The Ohio State University Moritz College of Law does not, in any way, make any recommendations, representations or warranties with regard to housing.

ON-CAMPUS HOUSING OPTIONS (University Housing)
Office of University Housing (614)292-8266, http://housing.osu.edu/gradpro.asp

Due to the renovation of several residence halls this year, on-campus “dorm” housing for graduate students is very limited. If you are interested, please contact the Office of University Housing directly.

Buckeye Village
Buckeye Village is a 390-unit apartment complex owned and operated by the University for married students and students with dependent children. Unfurnished one-bedroom and two-bedroom apartments are available on a month-to-month basis. Amenities include free parking for residents with one or two vehicles, flexibility of a month to month lease (45 days notice of vacate required), free high-speed internet access in each apartment (ethernet), heat and water included as a part of rent, on-site laundry facility, on-site playgrounds, basketball court and volleyball court, and recreation center (billiards, table tennis, foosball and computer access). Located approximately two miles from the Moritz College of Law, residents of Buckeye Village are served by the campus bus service. This community has two day care centers and a community center.

Campus Vicinity

South Campus Gateway
In August 2005, apartments became available for Moritz Law students located directly across the street from the college. Building “A” apartments, featuring a combination of studio, one-bedroom, and two-bedroom units, are located on the upper four floors. Amenities include a fully equipped kitchen; keycard-controlled access to building; high speed internet and cable access; washer-dryer machines in each apartment; and a fitness center. These apartments are part of a retail/dining/housing complex called the South Campus Gateway. Among the project’s anchor tenants are an eight-screen movie complex, restaurants such as Panera Bread, and a Barnes and Noble Bookstore. There are plans for more restaurants, clubs, stores, and banks and other personal service venues to locate in the Gateway.

Upper Arlington and Northwest Columbus

Located approximately three miles northwest of campus, Upper Arlington is bordered by Fifth Avenue on the south, Henderson Road on the north, Route 33/Riverside Drive on the west, and Kenny Road on the east. Upper Arlington is home to approximately 36,000 residents and is one of Columbus’ most established suburbs. Upper Arlington offers a select number of rental opportunities. Residents of Upper Arlington enjoy conveniently located shopping areas, and, for law students with school-age children, an excellent school system. Proficiency test scores for both elementary and high schools are among the highest statewide. Note: although the COTA bus system does serve some of this area, you may be better served if you have a car.
