

Dr. Eunice Hornsby is the Assistant Director of Organization and Human Resource Consulting at The Ohio State University's Office of Human Resources. Hornsby, a 2006 M.S.L. graduate, pursued the degree to better understand the court decisions, legislation, and regulations that continually affect her work.

The Ohio State University Moritz College of Law

Master in the Study of Law Degree (M.S.L.)

Information for M.S.L. program:

Visit moritzlaw.osu.edu/programs/msl/
Or contact Mary Ming at ming.5@osu.edu.

How did an M.S.L. degree help your career?

My M.S.L. degree was the ultimate balance of theory and practice. Everything that I studied in classes was applicable to my daily professional and personal life. I saw and began to understand an entire realm of my world – the legal sector – in a completely different light. Studying law made my daily experience of life more exciting and stimulating.

How have you used your new skills in your career?

So much of our lives today are impacted by the law. I can read and generally understand court cases, legislation, and regulations now – I use those skills daily in my work. My understanding of legal issues and concepts has improved my analysis of work problems or projects.

The faculty members were ...

... exceptional. They took a personal and professional interest in me and were very supportive of my individual interests in the study of law. I have never had faculty who invested the time they did to give me really significant feedback on my research or writing.

THE M.S.L. DEGREE offered by The Ohio State University Moritz College of Law is designed as a flexible program for people who want to learn about the law in order to strengthen their professional skills. Does law crossover into your area of expertise? Would knowing about certain legal practices, laws and regulations help advance your career?

To receive the M.S.L. degree, a student must satisfactorily complete 30 semester hours at the Moritz College of Law. A full-time student typically will be able to complete the program in one academic year. Part-time students generally will be expected to complete the requirements for the M.S.L. degree within four academic years.

Students will join J.D. candidates in first-year and advanced courses taught by award-winning professors. The College's faculty includes six former U.S. Supreme Court clerks and dozens more have equally remarkable careers as attorneys and educators.

To provide students with a solid foundation in legal principles and doctrine, Moritz includes three traditional first-year courses in its M.S.L. curriculum. Beyond that, students can work with the Faculty Director to design their own curriculum, or complete a concentration in one of the following areas:

- Business Law
- Criminal Law and Procedure
- Dispute Resolution
- Intellectual Property
- International Law
- Labor and Employment Law

Admission Requirements:

Applicants should have either:

- A Ph.D. or other doctoral degree in a discipline other than law, or
- Completed a program of study amounting to 45 quarter hours (or 30 semester hours) toward the doctoral degree.

In special cases, particular admission requirements may be waived.

Applicants also must have recent results from:

the Law School Admissions Test, Graduate Record Examination, Graduate Management Admissions Test, Medical College Admissions Test, or an equivalent test. International applicants also must take the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL).

Why an M.S.L. at Ohio State?

- ... The degree distinguishes you from others in your profession.
- ... A flexible schedule allows you to take the number of classes per semester that fit your busy schedule.
- ... The M.S.L. expands your knowledge of law that is relevant to your career without making the three-year J.D. commitment.

I would like to request more information

Full Name
Number and Street
City	State	Postal Code
Country
Telephone Number
Email
Graduate Degree and Institution

Additional program information also may be found at: /moritzlaw.osu.edu/programs/msl/

Back of BRC card

The Ohio State University
Moritz College of Law

Master in the Study of Law
Degree (M.S.L.)

Moritz M.S.L. Program

An alternative to the traditional three-year J.D. degree, the Master in the Study of Law (M.S.L.) degree is designed to help accomplished professionals in other disciplines expand their knowledge of legal principles and the U.S. legal system. At Ohio State, students in the M.S.L. program attend self-selected classes along side full-time law students at one of the country's top 10 public law schools.

The Ohio State University
Michael E. Moritz College of Law
Moritz M.S.L. Office
341 Drinko Hall
55 West 12th Avenue
Columbus, OH 43210-1391