Oxford, England

JUNE 28 – AUGUST 2

go.osu.edu/oxfordsummer

STUDY ABROAD WITH OHIO STATE AND THE UNIVERSITY OF OXFORD

For further information, please visit the program website at go.osu.edu/oxfordsummer or contact the program administrator, Assistant Dean Laura Fernández-Álvárez, at fernandez-alvarez.1@osu.edu.

facebook.com/groups/OhioState.Oxford  |  @MoritzLawOxford
(614) 688-5328  |  55 W. 12th Ave., Columbus, OH 43210-1391

The Faculty

KATRINA LEE
Clinical Professor of Law

Professor Katrina Lee joined the faculty at The Ohio State University Moritz College of Law in 2011 after an accomplished career in complex litigation spanning more than 12 years. Professor Lee has represented Fortune 500 companies in all litigation phases, including discovery, trial, appeal, and dispute resolution proceedings. At a national law firm, she was elevated to equity partner in her seventh year of practice, making her one of the youngest ever in that firm’s history to achieve that distinction. Professor Lee teaches Business of Law, Legal Analysis and Writing, Legal Negotiations, and LLM Legal Writing. She taught Business Negotiations in a Global Environment in the 2017 University of Oxford-Ohio State University Summer Law Program. Professor Lee serves as a Faculty Advisor for The Ohio State Journal on Dispute Resolution. She is the Director of the LLM Legal Writing program.

KEITH HAWKINS
Professor Emeritus of Law and Society, University of Oxford, Fellow and Tutor in Law, Oriel College; University of Oxford, Former Deputy Director, Centre For Socio-Legal Studies, University of Oxford

Keith Hawkins is the Professor Emeritus of Law and Society at the University of Oxford, fellow and tutor in law at the university’s Oriel College, and the former deputy director for the university’s Centre for Socio-Legal Studies. His research interests are in the sociology of legal processes and are concerned with legal decision making and the workings of governmental regulation in the areas of environmental control and occupational health and safety regulations. He is the author of Environment and Enforcement: Law as Last Resort.

DR. CHRISTOPHER J. WHELAN
Oxford Law Faculty Member; Associate Director, International Law Programmes, University of Oxford; Visiting Professor, Wollongong & Law School

Christopher J. Whelan is an Oxford Law faculty member and associate director of the International Law Programmes at the University of Oxford. He is the author of Creative Accounting and the Cross-Eyed Javelin Thrower, Legal Systems and Social Systems, Military Intervention in Democratic Societies, and Small Claims Courts: A Comparative Study.

Contact

For further information, please visit the program website at go.osu.edu/oxfordsummer or contact the program administrator, Assistant Dean Laura Fernández-Álvarez, at fernandez-alvarez.1@osu.edu.
The University of Oxford-The Ohio State University Summer Law Program offers students the unique opportunity to study with faculty from both the University of Oxford and The Ohio State University Moritz College of Law in the United States. Students will learn about the British and American legal systems through a combination of classroom, guest lectures, and excursions throughout Oxford and London.

The program houses students in private rooms at St. Anne’s College and provides them with full board—three meals a day seven days a week. Participants can choose from among four different courses and earn up to six hours of credit toward their law degree. Tuition costs are kept low for a study abroad program of this scope, making our summer of study in Oxford an excellent value.

The University of Oxford was founded in the 12th century and is renowned worldwide as a premier institution of higher education. St. Anne’s is one of Oxford’s newest colleges and has an outstanding reputation for academic excellence. Its scenic grounds are located close to all of Oxford’s other colleges and libraries, as well as the city’s downtown shopping district.

The Moritz College of Law and the University of Oxford have teamed up to run the Summer Law Program since 1987, educating law students on a variety of comparative and international law topics. The academic program has been approved by the American Bar Association’s Section of Legal Education and Admissions to the Bar, and credit is awarded by The Ohio State University Bar Association. Students interested in earning up to six semester hours of credit may choose any combination of the following four courses:

- Comparative Legal Professions (3 semester hours)
- Comparative Sentencing and Punishment (1 semester hour)
- Comparative Legal Systems (1 semester hour)
- Comparative Civil Procedure (1 semester hour)

Excursions

Four different courses are offered, each with a class size of approximately 20 students. Students enrolled in the program may choose any combination of the following four courses and earn up to six semester hours of credit:

- Comparative Legal Professions (3 semester hours)
- Comparative Sentencing and Punishment (1 semester hour)
- Comparative Civil Procedure (1 semester hour)
- Comparative Legal Systems (1 semester hour)

The academic program has been approved by the American Bar Association’s Section of Legal Education and Admissions to the Bar, and credit is awarded by The Ohio State University Moritz College of Law. For complete course descriptions and other information, please visit go.osu.edu/oxfordsummer.

Guest Lectures

In addition to regularly scheduled classes, the program features at least six lectures by prominent scholars in their respective fields. Past topics include “Tony Blair’s Domestic Policy Triumphs 1997-2007,” “From Blair to Brown: British Foreign Policy in Flux,” and “The Comparative Challenge: The Politics of Decentralization.” Cost is included in program tuition.

A Summer in Oxford

A Summer in Oxford

Applications are available online at:

http://studyabroad.osu.edu/SummerProgramApplicationProcess

Students who have completed at least one academic year in law school and are admitted to an ABA-accredited law school prior to June 30 of the year they plan to participate in the summer program may apply. Graduate students in law-related fields will be considered for admission on an individual basis.

Applicants must be in good academic standing at an ABA-accredited law school prior to June 30 of the year they plan to participate in the summer program. All applications and a $300 deposit must be submitted by April 1. Applicants will be admitted into the program on a first-come, first-served basis. Applications should be made as early as possible. It is strongly recommended that all applications be made on or before March 1. Total program costs must be paid in full by June 15. In the event of program cancellation, amounts paid for the balance of program costs are not refundable. The Ohio State University reserves the right to cancel this program in the event of underenrollment or other compelling circumstances that prevent the program from being held. Applicants will be immediately returned in the event of cancellation.

Medicaid Insurance

While participating in an Ohio State study abroad program, students are required to maintain their primary insurance coverage. As part of the program, students also receive supplemental insurance through GeoBlue Travel Insurance for the duration of their study abroad program. This insurance is provided as a part of the Study Abroad Program Fee and supplements a student’s current health insurance.

The written statement should be sent to the program administrator by post or email. Assistant Dean Laura Fernández-Alvarez, University of Ohio-The Ohio State University Summer Law Program, Moritz College of Law, 55 W. 12th Ave., Columbus, Ohio, 43210; or fernandez- alvarez@law.ohio-state.edu. A deposit of $300 is due with the online application and will be applied to the application fee. One hundred dollars ($100) of the deposit is refundable if a student withdraws from the program by March 15. Otherwise, the $300 deposit is refundable only if a student is not admitted into the program or if the program is canceled. Total enrollment in the program is limited, and eligible applicants will be admitted into the program on a first-come, first-served basis. Applications should be made as early as possible. It is strongly recommended that all applications be made on or before March 1. Total program costs must be paid in full by June 15. In the event of program cancellation, amounts paid for the balance of program costs are not refundable. The Ohio State University reserves the right to cancel this program in the event of underenrollment or other compelling circumstances that prevent the program from being held. Applicants will be immediately returned in the event of cancellation.

The Ohio State University Summer Law Program. (If your school will not accept credit, please contact the program administrator before applying.)

Tuition, Fees, Room and Board

Tuition

Deposit

$700

$300

Students also should budget additional amounts for airfare and miscellaneous expenses and must have primary health insurance. Supplemental overseas health insurance will be provided as part of the program.

Every student is housed in a private room in a beautiful, normally occupied by St. Anne’s undergraduate students. Breakfast, lunch, and dinner are included in the total charge and are served every day, including weekends, in the college dining hall. Mid-morning tea (and coffee) is served on class days. The hall also covers field study and excursion costs, receptions, and a farewell dinner.

Summer Program students are responsible for making their own transportation arrangements between the United States and England, and for personal expenses and passport fees.

The University of Oxford, including St. Anne’s College, is generally accessible to students with disabilities. The directors of the program are committed to making accommodations, when feasible, to allow students with disabilities to participate fully in the program and in student life. Students who require special accommodations must indicate that the applicant’s law school will not accept credit, please contact the program administrator before applying.