SBA List Candidate Fund Endorsement Criteria

The goal of the SBA List Candidate Fund is to increase the percentage of pro-life women in Congress and high public office. To accomplish this, we endorse select pro-life candidates. To be considered for endorsement, candidates must fulfill the following criteria:

1. Be a pro-life woman running for election to Congress or statewide office

OR

Be a pro-life man running for election to Congress or statewide office against a pro-abortion woman.

2. Complete our candidate questionnaire

3. Be a viable candidate

4. Be interviewed by the SBA List

5. Earn the official approval of our Candidate Selection Committee

6. Candidate Endorsements are considered on a rolling basis. If you know of a candidate that we should consider and meets the above criteria, email Lindsay Matlock at lmatlock@sba-list.org.

Meet The Candidates

SUSAN B. ANTHONY FUND

2010 Susan B. Anthony List Candidate Fund Endorsed Candidates

Updated 7/20/10
U.S. Senate

Carly Fiorina, U.S. Senate, California
A longtime leader in the corporate arena, Carly Fiorina has proven herself a force to be reckoned with. Along with her numerous credentials, she will be a staunch advocate for Life in the U.S. Senate, a voice urgently needed. Unable to have children of her own, she has said she understands that every child is a gift. With your support, Carly will beat EMILY's List poster woman and avid pro-abortion Senator Barbara Boxer in the general election.

Sharron Angle, U.S. Senate, Nevada
Sharron began her public service as a school teacher and continued during her time in the Nevada State Assembly, where she acted as Minority Whip in 2003 and was a consistent voice for life. Sharron won the Republican primary to challenge self-proclaimed "pro-life" Senate Majority Leader Harry Reid, who led the fight for the largest expansion of abortion since Roe v. Wade.

Jane Norton, U.S. Senate, Colorado
Jane demonstrated her strong pro-life leadership as Lieutenant Governor of Colorado. In 1999, she successfully worked to end state funding for abortion-provider Planned Parenthood and streamlined Colorado's adoption process. With her work standing up to the culture of death in Colorado, she is prepared to stand firmly for Life in the U.S. Senate. Help us send an experienced woman to the U.S. Senate who has a proven record of standing for women and the unborn.

Kelly Ayotte, U.S. Senate, New Hampshire
Kelly is the first woman to serve as Attorney General for the state of New Hampshire and while serving, defended a parental notification law challenged by Planned Parenthood of New England before the Supreme Court, though her own Governor filed a brief in opposition to her defense. This ardent defender of Life is in a contested primary with two men, one of which is strongly pro-abortion, and then will face Paul Hodes, another pro-abortion candidate, in the general election.

Dan Coats, U.S. Senate, Indiana
Dan Coats has a long history of public service, first serving his country in the United States Army. He went on to work in many other areas of public service as a Member of the U.S. House of Representatives, U.S. Senator, and Ambassador. Dan held this same Senate seat from 1989-1999 and is again ready to fight for Hoosiers in the Senate. He is challenging Congressman Brad Ellsworth for this open seat. In November, Coats will defeat Ellsworth, who chose party over principle and voted for taxpayer funding of abortion in the health care bill.

Roy Blunt, U.S. Senate, Missouri
Congressman Blunt was first elected to Congress in 1997 and has since served as Majority Leader, Majority Whip, and Minority Whip. He has been a leader for Life in the House and will take his dedication to the Senate. He is facing EMILY's List candidate Robin Carnahan, the current Missouri Secretary of State, for this open seat.

John Boozman, U.S. Senate, Arkansas
Congressman Boozman was first elected in 2001 to represent Arkansas' Third District and has been an advocate for Life in the House of Representatives, maintaining a 100% pro-life voting record. He is challenging Blanche Lincoln, an out-spoken pro-abortion woman. She voted three times to express the sense of Congress that Roe v. Wade was "appropriate" and secures "an important constitutional right." With John Boozman we have a chance to defeat an entrenched pro-abortion incumbent.
Christine O'Donnell, U.S. Senate, Delaware

Christine is nationally known as a political commentator and a strong voice for Life. She has worked in various roles to promote Life through public policy in the United States and internationally. In the Republican primary she will face Mike Castle. Castle supports U.S. aid for abortions overseas and in the District of Columbia and, also, refused to deny taxpaying funds to Planned Parenthood. Christine is a pro-life contrast to both Republican and Democrat candidates in the race for Joe Biden's former Senate seat.

U.S. House of Representatives - Incumbents

Michele Bachmann, Minnesota's 6th District

Congresswoman Bachmann, an outspoken voice for Life, has authored and advocated for numerous pro-life bills in her political career. She is currently the sponsor of the Positive Alternatives Act, which serves to assist women facing crisis pregnancies and inform them about abortion alternatives. She faces an EMILY's List challenger, State Sen. Tarryl Clark, in the general election. Congressman Bachmann is one of the most vocal leaders for Life in Congress and is the number one target of pro-abortion groups. She needs your help to continue her battle for Life in the House.

Marsha Blackburn, Tennessee's 7th District

Marsha Blackburn was a consistent voice for Life in the Tennessee State House and has been a consistent voice for Life in Congress, serving since 2002, in the same district former Vice President Al Gore once represented. Congressman Blackburn co-sponsored the Partial Birth Abortion Ban Act, the Child Custody Protection Act, the Weldon-Stupak Human Cloning Prohibition Act, the Unborn Victims of Violence Act and the Unborn Child Pain Awareness Act. Blackburn faces a challenge from Greg Rabidoux, who denies that taxpayer-funded abortion is mandated by the health care law.

Virginia Foxx, North Carolina's 5th District

Virginia Foxx was first elected to the House of Representatives in 2004 and has been a consistent ally of the SBA List. While in Congress, Congresswoman Foxx has co-sponsored the Fetus Farming Prohibition Act, the Weldon-Stupak Human Cloning Prohibition Act, the RU-486 Suspension and Review Act, the Right to Life Act, the Child Custody Protection Act, and the Unborn Child Pain Awareness Act. Virginia is known for her tenacity and is an outspoken advocate for women and unborn children.

Cynthia Lummis, Wyoming's At Large District

In 1979, Cynthia Lummis was the youngest woman ever elected to the Wyoming State Legislature. She served as Wyoming State Treasurer from 1998-2007, then was elected to Congress in 2008 by a strong margin. She has fought to ensure abortion was not funded in federal spending bills. She faces a challenge from David Wendt in the general election.

Cathy McMorris Rodgers, Washington's 5th District

Cathy McMorris Rodgers was elected to the House of Representatives in 2004. The former Washington State Representative was a champion for the unborn in the state legislature, and she has continued her unending efforts to protect Life as a Member of Congress. Congresswoman McMorris Rodgers has co-sponsored the Unborn Child Pain Awareness Act, the Weldon-Stupak Human Cloning Prohibition Act, and the Child Custody Protection Act. Cathy is the mother of a child with Down Syndrome and knows firsthand the beauty of all human life. She is the founder and co-chair of the bipartisan Congressional Down Syndrome Caucus. With your help, Cathy's fight for Life will continue into a fourth term.
Candice Miller, Michigan’s 10th District
Congresswoman Miller was first elected to Congress in 2002 and has co-sponsored many pro-life bills including the Partial Birth Abortion Ban, the Child Custody Protection Act, the Weldon-Stupak Human Cloning Prohibition Act, the Unborn Victims of Violence Act, the RU-486 Suspension and Review Act and the Unborn Child Pain Awareness Act. It is critical to keep such a dependable defender of Life in Congress.

Sue Myrick, North Carolina’s 9th District
Congresswoman Myrick was first elected to Congress in 1994 and has supported Life throughout her career in Congress. She co-sponsored the RU-486 Suspension and Review Act, Partial Birth Abortion Ban, the Child Custody Protection Act, the Unborn Victims of Violence Act, the Informed Choice Act, and the Unborn Child Pain Awareness Act. Leaders like Myrick are pivotal to protecting Life in Congress.

Joe Pitts, Pennsylvania’s 16th District
Elected to the House in 1997, Congressman Pitts chairs the Values Action Team and is actively involved with the Pro-Life Caucus. He has sponsored multiple pro-life bills, including the Protect Life Act, which amends the health care bill to ensure that no taxpayer dollars go toward elective abortion, prevents any federal agency from mandating abortion, and protects the consciences of healthcare workers. We cannot lose an outstanding pro-life leader like Congressman Pitts. Pitts is facing EMILY’s List and NOW-backed candidate Lois Herr. We must back this champion for Life.

Ileana Ros-Lehtinen, Florida’s 18th District
Ileana Ros-Lehtinen was first elected in 1989 and has since co-sponsored the Partial Birth Abortion Ban, the Weldon-Stupak Human Cloning Prohibition Act, the Unborn Victims of Violence Act, and the Unborn Child Pain Awareness Act. She also served as the lead sponsor of the Child Interstate Abortion Notification Act (CIANA) in the last three sessions of Congress. Ileana was among four U.S. Representatives to introduce legislation that would reinstate the Mexico City Policy, following President Obama’s repeal.

Jean Schmidt, Ohio’s 2nd District
Jean Schmidt was elected to the House of Representatives in an August 2005 special election to serve Ohio’s 2nd Congressional district. She is the former president of Cincinnati Right to Life and served as a pro-life leader in the Ohio House of Representatives for years. As a State Representative, Jean sponsored an amendment to Women’s Health Services diverting $1.7 million in the Ohio family planning budget away from Planned Parenthood. Jean also sponsored an Ohio State House resolution that established a task force to study the abortion-breast cancer link and to notify women of the possible connection between the two. As a leading member of the Congressional Pro-Life Women’s Caucus, Jean has carried on the fight for Life at every turn.

U.S. House of Representatives - Challengers

Ann Marie Buerkle, New York’s 25th District
After decades of work in the pro-life movement as a local volunteer and advocate, Ann Marie stepped up to challenge pro-abortion incumbent Representative Dan Maffei. Her experience as Assistant New York State Attorney General and her career as a nurse has more than prepared Ann Marie to challenge this ardent pro-abortion candidate.
Steve Chabot, Ohio’s 1st District
From 1994-2008 Steve Chabot represented the First District of Ohio. He held a solid pro-life record during his time in Congress and sponsored the Partial Birth Abortion Ban which President Bush signed into law. He is running in a re-match against freshman Democrat Steve Driehaus, who voted for the pro-abortion health care bill but claimed to be pro-life. We need Steve Chabot to reclaim his seat in the House and truly represent the unborn and the people of Ohio’s First District.

Teresa Collett, Minnesota’s 4th District
As a leading law professor and attorney, Teresa Collett has fought for pro-life legislation in Minnesota and served as a special attorney general for Oklahoma where she argued against sex-selection abortions. She is the director of the Pro-Life Center at the University of St. Thomas and has testified before the Supreme Court regarding partial birth abortion and parental notification. She is challenging pro-abortion incumbent Betty McCollum.

Renee Ellmers, North Carolina’s 2nd District
As a member of the medical profession, Renee Ellmers understands the direct impact of policy that does not protect human life, especially the recently passed health care bill. Renee and her husband, a local doctor, have worked with the pro-life movement in North Carolina for many years, and Renee is excited to bring the pro-life fight to Congress. She is challenging incumbent Bob Etheridge.

Joe Heck, Nevada’s 3rd District
Dr. Joe Heck began serving his country as a volunteer firefighter, ambulance attendant, then volunteered with Nevada Search and Rescue and the Army Reserve. He is challenging pro-abortion incumbent Dina Titus to bring his pro-life leadership to Congress. Titus has a 0% pro-life rating with National Right to Life and has been endorsed by EMILY’s List. She continually fails the most vulnerable of her constituents.

Rich Iott, Ohio’s 9th District
Rich’s life began with a beautiful story of a young woman’s brave decision to give him life and put him up for adoption. After growing up understanding the value of Life, Rich knew he had to run for Congress when he saw the current Congress choosing death over Life and debt over prosperity. His story of hope and Life contrasts directly with his opponent, Marcy Kaptur, who caved with the Bart Stupak gang at the last minute and voted for federal funding of abortion in the health care bill.

Mike Kelly, Pennsylvania’s 3rd District
Mike Kelly chose to step away from his car dealership and challenge former pro-life incumbent Kathy Dahlkemper, in order to truly represent constituents of Pennsylvania’s 3rd District. Dahlkemper’s once pro-life record is forever tarnished by an inexcusable vote for health care reform that included taxpayer-funded abortion. With Mike in Congress, we know he will not choose politics over Life.

Adam Kinzinger, Illinois’ 11th District
Adam Kinzinger first ran for public office while in college, defeating a twelve-year Democratic incumbent for County Board, then went on to serve in the Air Force National Guard, where he rose to the rank of Captain. Adam won an impressive primary victory to become the Republican nominee against EMILY’s List candidate Debbie Halvorson. Support Adam Kinzinger and help give the people of Illinois’ 11th District and the American people an advocate for Life.
Kristi Noem, South Dakota's At Large District
Kristi Noem was elected to the South Dakota State Legislature in 2006, where she supported multiple pro-life efforts. Kristi realizes unborn Life is rightly cherished by the people of South Dakota, unlike the current incumbent, Stephanie Herseth-Sandlin, who has been consistently supported by EMILY's List. Kristi will give Herseth-Sandlin a run for her money, with this being one of the closest races across the country where a pro-abortion woman is being challenged by a woman who stands for Life.

Star Parker, California's 37th District
As the founder and president of CURE, the Center for Urban Renewal & Education, a non-profit think tank that explores and promotes market-based public policy to fight poverty, the author of several books, and a national speaker, Star Parker is an experienced leader for Life. She is challenging EMILY’s List incumbent, Laura Richardson. Star’s personal story enables her to speak out about the trauma that abortion causes women. She is garnering national support to challenge this well-funded pro-abortion incumbent.

Jackie Walorski, Indiana's 2nd District
State Representative Jackie Walorski has been a consistent supporter of Life. In her role as a state legislator, Jackie fought to defund Planned Parenthood and to add unborn children to the list of protected classes in a hate crimes bill. After her Republican primary victory, Jackie is challenging incumbent Democrat Joe Donnelly, who voted for the pro-abortion health care bill. Jackie is just the type of woman we need in the House to advocate for solid pro-life legislation.

U.S. House of Representatives – Open Seats

Diane Black, Tennessee’s 6th District
Diane Black's has an extensive record of standing for Life in Tennessee. She is currently working in the Tennessee State Senate to opt-out of taxpayer-funded abortion from health care “reform.” She fought to defund Planned Parenthood in Tennessee and co-sponsored the Freedom from Coercion Act, which fines abortion “clinics” that do not post signs stating Tennessee’s law against forced abortions. On Aug 5th she will face tough primary challengers, then move on to the general for this strong Republican seat.

Jaime Herrera, Washington’s 3rd District
As a Washington State Representative, Jaime Herrera maintained a consistent record for Life. Jaime is a former staffer of SBA List-endorsed incumbent Cathy McMorris Rodgers (WA-05), and Congresswoman Rodgers is supporting Jaime as a strong pro-life woman who can win this seat. She faces a four way primary challenge on August 17th and will then challenge one of two pro-abortion Democrats in the general election.

Jennifer Horn, New Hampshire’s 2nd District
In 2008, Jennifer became the first female Republican nominee in New Hampshire history. Throughout her life she has been very involved in her community supporting women and children. She will continue her work protecting women and children in Congress, giving a voice to the unborn who cannot speak for themselves. With your support, after she wins her primary on September 14th, Jennifer will be ready to oppose one of two pro-abortion Democrats.

Robin Smith, Tennessee’s 3rd District
As a former nurse and community leader, Robin Smith was honored by The City of Chattanooga and the NAACP for her commitment to inner-city children. She is excited to use her experience in Tennessee in Washington, D.C. and work to protect innocent, unborn lives. She needs your support to win her 15-way primary on August 5th in order to arrive as another pro-life woman in Washington and represent America’s pro-life majority in Congress.
Gubernatorial

Mary Fallin, Oklahoma Governor
The SBA List Candidate Fund endorsed Congresswoman Fallin in 2006 and 2008. She has a 100% pro-life voting record and her election to the office of Governor of Oklahoma is critical. The Oklahoma legislature recently passed tremendous pro-life legislation that is not consistently supported by the current governor. Mary Fallin will be a steadfast supporter of Life by advocating for pro-life legislation and signing it into law.

Nikki Haley, South Carolina Governor
In 2004, Nikki Haley was elected to the South Carolina State Legislature and went on to win several contested elections. She is a leader in the business and political arena and has received awards for her work in the legislature. She received the most votes in the Republican primary and went on to win the run-off election. Haley will now challenge pro-abortion candidate Vincent Shaheen for this open seat. With your help, South Carolina will elect a pro-life, female governor for the first time in its history.

Rita Meyer, Wyoming Governor
During Rita Meyer’s 23 years serving in the Wyoming Air National Guard, she has served in the Middle East during both the Gulf War and the War on Terror, and then in Southeast Asia as a commander of base infrastructure. Rita won a state-wide election to become Wyoming State Auditor. She is running in a crowded primary on August 17th and will then move to the general election. With your help, Rita will be Wyoming’s first female governor since 1927.

Kay Ivey, Alabama Lt. Governor
Kay Ivey’s candidacy comes as part of a tidal wave of pro-life women candidates this election cycle stepping into leadership. When she was elected to office of Alabama State Treasurer in 2002, she was the first Republican to hold the office since Reconstruction and has served in Alabama’s state government in multiple capacities. Ivey has vocalized strong support for preventing abortions through tax breaks for adoptive and foster families and by promoting pro-life counseling centers to counter the harmful advice women and young girls receive from so-called “family planning” clinics. She is challenging incumbent Jim Folsom to become a leader for Life in Alabama.

Attorney General

Pam Bondi, Florida Attorney General
Pam Bondi has spent 18 years serving as a public prosecutor and received the “Women of Excellence in Government” award. Her experience and pro-life stance will help her in fighting for Life in Florida. Attorneys General races are extremely important in fighting the pro-abortion lobby and especially critical in a time when states are fighting the pro-abortion health care bill. Support Pam Bondi and usher in more Attorneys General for Life.

Brenna Findley, Iowa Attorney General
Brenna Findley served as Chief of Staff and Chief Advisor on Judicial Issues to Congressman Steve King, an avid pro-life Congressman. A lifelong guardian of the unborn, she has volunteered for the Right to Life and worked for Members of Congress who progress the pro-life movement. She will challenge pro-abortion incumbent Tom Miller. We need women Attorneys General like Brenna to stand up for and protect Life at the state level and challenge pro-abortion incumbent Tom Miller.
SBA List Candidate Fund Endorsement Criteria
The goal of the SBA List Candidate Fund is to increase the percentage of pro-life women in Congress and high public office. To accomplish this, we endorse select pro-life candidates. To be considered for endorsement, candidates must fulfill the following criteria:

1) Be a pro-life woman running for election to Congress or statewide office OR be a pro-life man running for election to Congress or statewide office against a pro-abortion woman *
2) Complete our candidate questionnaire
3) Be a viable candidate
4) Be interviewed by the SBA List
5) Earn the official approval of our Candidate Selection Committee

*During the fight to prevent taxpayer funded abortion in healthcare reform, the Susan B. Anthony List placed significant emphasis and resources in communicating with pro-life Members of Congress that this was a career-defining vote. For those who chose to betray their pro-life principles and vote for the largest expansion of abortion since Roe v. Wade, the SBA List has launched a special project, Votes Have Consequences. Endorsements have been made in these specific districts may not have otherwise fit Susan B. Anthony List Candidate Fund criteria for endorsement.

Candidate Endorsements are considered on a rolling basis. If you know of a candidate that we should consider and meets the above criteria, email lmatlock@sba-list.org.

Joining the Susan B. Anthony List Candidate Fund

As a member of the Susan B. Anthony List Candidate Fund, you will receive important race updates from across the country and have the opportunity to contribute to the success of pro-life candidates by making contributions through the Candidate Fund. By bundling your donation together with those from other members, you can give authentic, pro-life leaders the edge they need to win on Election Day.
