Thousands of Affidavits, Few Problems With Voter ID Law

by Mike Collier

September 1, 2014

The Texas Tribune

In Travis County, about 40 per cent of the nearly 324,000 voters cast ballots during early voting last year, and about 8 per cent of those voters signed affidavits attesting to the fact that they were eligible to vote.

In Denton County, only about 3 per cent of the nearly 324,000 voters cast ballots during early voting last year, and about 4 per cent of those voters signed affidavits attesting to the fact that they were eligible to vote.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.

In both counties, the numbers of affidavits were much lower than the numbers of votes cast in the primary election.