ENTREPRENEURIAL BUSINESS LAW CLINIC

DOES YOUR BUSINESS NEED LEGAL SERVICES?

The EBLC may be able to assist you.

The Entrepreneurial Business Law Clinic (EBLC) at The Ohio State University's Moritz College of Law serves Ohio-based startups, nonprofits, and other early stage businesses in need of transactional legal services. Under the supervision of licensed faculty, third-year law students advise clients on a variety of corporate and intellectual property matters, including initial organization, formation/incorporation, equity agreements, employment agreements, trade secret protection, promissory notes, trademark registrations, nonprofit tax exemption, licensing, website policies, and day-to-day corporate governance.

The EBLC operates during both the fall and spring semesters of the academic year.

The EBLC can assist clients on a variety of matters, including:

- » Formation
- » Incorporation
- » Capitalization Tables
- » Equity Agreements
- » Employment Agreements
- » Trade Secret Protection
- » Promissory Notes
- » Trademark Registrations
- » Nonprofit Tax Exemption

The EBLC's services are free of charge to clients.
